Purash Kanpur Haridas Nandi Mahavidyalaya Feedback Report, 2020-2021

A well-developed feedback system is very much essential for smoothly running institutions and organization and enhances their functionality. Feedbacks are mainly collected from students, the results are analysed and discussed in Academic Council meetings and actions are taken as required.

The survey was mainly conducted during the academic year 2020-21. This academic year was an exception to other academic years due to complete lockdown of educational institutions for a prolonged period of time. As a result, an online mode of teaching and examinations had to be adopted. Being a college in a rural area, where a considerable proportion of the students belong to economically weaker sections, we had to take feedback from students on various issues along with education, like affordability of smartphones, usage capacity of internet data etc. Here are a few feedback results from those collected samples, its analysis and reports of actions taken in our college for the academic years 2020-21 is shown.
